

SHOT BY AN OFFICER

James Thomas, a Negro, Wounded by Policeman Cronin.

THE INJURED MAN ADMITS HAVING ASSAULTED THE BLUECOAT.

The Trouble Grew Out of the Attempt of Cronin to Disperse a Crowd on the Laws—An Application for a Warrant Against Samson Beer—General Police News.

Officer William Cronin of the Third District shot a dusky negro at 10:15 o'clock this morning on the lawns between Lucas Avenue and Morgan street. The police say that the negro's name is James Thomas, but he himself states that his name is James Phillips.
The bullet struck Thomas in the chin and rang sideways, lodging in the left side of the neck. He was sent to the Dispensary and thence to the City Hospital. The facial arteries were severed, and Thomas died profusely, but the physicians did not regard his injuries as fatal.
According to the statement of the officer a crowd of ten or fifteen negroes congregated on the pavement, and although ordered to disperse several times by Cronin, they persisted in blocking the way. Cronin walked into their midst and commanded them to move away. They showed a disposition to jostle him, and Thomas, who was in the crowd, stepped toward Cronin to grasp him, it is claimed. The officer retreated a step to avoid the negro's grasp, and Thomas then struck him a powerful blow on the left side of the face with a weapon of some kind, according to the officer. Thomas made for Cronin a second time and the officer drew his revolver and fired. But the shot did not stop Thomas, for he seized Cronin and attempted to take the revolver from him. He might have succeeded, but for the timely interference of William Branch. Officer Cronin said that Thomas had a grudge against him because he arrested him some time ago for carrying a revolver. Officer Cronin was over six feet in height and built in proportion. He is a roustabout. Thomas, or Phillips, as he calls himself, says that he and a few other negroes were drinking, and Cronin, in his efforts to scatter them, kicked several of them. Thomas admits that he had been drinking, but he does not have the better of him for Branch. Thomas says that Branch, who is a steamboat mate, drew his revolver and obliged him to let go his hold of Cronin. The negro will be held a prisoner.

Charges Against Samson Beer.

Bengio Zarzana, a cigar manufacturer at 806 Pine street, called upon Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Estep this morning to secure a warrant for the arrest of Samson Beer on a charge of fraud. According to the story he told he is the victim of misplaced trust. He had been employed by Mr. Beer and had about twenty-five orders for cigars, which he had taken from his employer's bill and to allow him a commission. To this the dealer agreed, and sent his son to a number of addressers with a bill to deliver him to their destination. Beer would take the cigars from the boy, it is claimed, and would quietly ask to be allowed to have a smoke. He would then explain to the boy, it is alleged, that the proprietor was out and that they would have to come back later.
Beer would give the boy the slip, and returning, carry away the cigars. In this way Zar-zana says he would have made $100 a day and $1,000 in cash. Beer is said to be staying at the Belvidere Hotel, Thirteenth street and Washington avenue. He is said to have made a fortune in the cigar business, but to have lost it through speculation.

AN HONEST MAYOR.

He Refuses to Accept Office Won by Fraud.

ELECTION WARDEN COUNTED ALONE AND BURNED THE BALLOTS.

It Was a Close Poll, but He Returned $45 Majority for the Democratic Incumbent—The New Axeman of the Post-Office Department Declares His Intention Rewarding New York Factions.

FORTLAND, Mo., March 10.—Mayor Ingram has written a letter declining to accept the office of Mayor under Monday's election. He says: "Entertaining doubt as to accuracy of the election returns from the First Ward and not being willing to hold office unless its title be undoubted, I hereby respectfully refuse to accept the office of Mayor under said election."

Monday's election for Mayor turned on the First Ward, where the Republicans allege fraud to have been perpetrated. The Warden counted the ballots all alone, refusing to entertain a motion to permit a Republican to witness the counting. This ward has always been very close, giving a Democratic majority one year and a Republican another. When the vote was declared, it appeared that Mr. Ingraham, the Democratic candidate, received 245 majority in that ward. As the Warden finished his count he burned the ballot thus destroying his chance to verify his figures. The check-lists have been kept by the City Clerk all the while, and no one has been allowed to see them. It is thought that these lists show a plain discrepancy.

HILL'S INTERVIEW WITH THE PRESIDENT.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 10.—Senator Hill was found at his hotel, the Normandie, as usual, he was reading a newspaper. When not actively engaged in political discussion or in letter-writing he has always a pile of dailies and magazines within easy reach.

"Senator, how did you get the President?" he asked.

He peered over the edge of his paper and his eyes twinkled.

"In the usual manner," he said, "went first to the White House Secretary and was then taken to his room."

"Was he cordial?"

The reading of his paper had been resumed. On more topics he lowered.

"More than is usual with him. Cleveland is always pleasant."

"I had business with the departments and thought that that might be availed by taking in the White House on the way. I was not sure, but I did not mind the risk for men. I found them all there, waiting for anyone who might happen along."

"It is generally stated that you went not of your own accord, but upon request—request by the Executive."

"Generally stated by whom?"

"By the correspondents and politicians."

"Very sorry, but I have nothing to say on that subject—nothing whatever."

For the third time Senator from New York buried himself in his newspaper.

PURSUING GEORGE T. ANTHONY.

TOPEKA, Kan., March 10.—Atty.-Gen. Little has given notice that suit would be brought to recover from ex-State Treasurer Stover all money paid to George T. Anthony as salary and expense for Railroad Commissioner since 1889. Stover is now elected to the Legislature, but he refuses to give it up, claiming he has a right to be paid for his services. The term for which he was elected does not expire until April, 1893.

ATMAN MAXWELL'S INTENTIONS.

BATAVIA, N. Y., March 10.—Robert A. Maxwell, in answer to the question: "Are you assuming that your appointment as Fourth Assistant Postmaster is confirmed, what course of action will you take?" said in regard to the distribution of patronage in regard to the so-called Hill and Cleveland factions, "I shall be conservative and will do what I can to live up to the trust to harmonize all the warring elements. That will be my aim throughout."

Mr. Maxwell declined to go into details.

INVESTIGATING THE TRUST.

ILLINOIS. Legislator after the Distillers and Cattle Feeders' Co.

CHICAGO, March 10.—The joint committee appointed by the Illinois Legislature to investigate the workings of the Cattle Feeders' and Distilling Co., commonly known as the "whisky trust," arrived in the city from Springfield this morning and at 2 o'clock this afternoon will begin the investigation at the Sherman House. The witnesses summoned for the first day's hearing include a large number of the most distinguished industrial and financial experts. The resolution under which the investigation will be carried on recites that the trust conspires to stifle competition, terrorize and extort unfair profits at the expense of the people and jeopardize life and property.

FITZSIMMONS' KNOCK OUT BLOW.

A Physician Explains Why Hall Was Unable to Respond.

"The inferior carotid triangle; humph that's a mighty soft spot. Bob Fitzsimmons very probably doesn't know what that means, but it meant $4,000 to him right before last when he put his fist on that very interesting part of Mr. Hall's anatomy." The speaker was a prominent member of the medical profession and he discussed the result of Wednesday night's battle. The most important place to land a blow is right on the side of the jaw or just below and a little to the back of the ear. It makes no difference how big the blow is planted square and direct. If the blow is planted square and direct, why is there a knock out? Why? Well, three-quarters of the region where the blow is aimed is in the region where the veins, arteries and nerves converge as they enter the base of the brain. The medical term for that is 'anastomosis' and the blow, if it is aimed at the point below the ear runs a shaft which, by a hinge joint in the mastoid process, transports bone just in front of the auditory canal. Now, Sir, if you'll follow me with the blow, the blow is on the point of Mr. Hall's jaw. The shape of the inferior maxilla is a temporal bone, which is the bone of the temporal bone, which is the bone of the temporal triangle. It would be the anatomy of this interesting region which is included in every fighter's course of training."

For Stiffness.

Use Horseradish Acid Phosphate.

Dr. Price of the White Star S. S. Germantown says: "I have described it in my practice among the passengers traveling to and from Europe, that the steamer, and the result has satisfied me that it takes in time it will in a great many cases prevent seasickness."

BARE IT AS "BEN MY CREEK."

A NIGHT'S PERFORMANCE LAST NIGHT AT THE GRAND.

LAST NIGHT Wilson Barrett presented at the Grand Opera-house what is generally considered his strongest play, "Ben My Creek," a plot which is very strong one, being taken from "The Deemster," and the character of Dan Myrtle is peculiarly well suited to Mr. Barrett's virile genius. He depicted the strong, passionate, violent man, capable of all vices save cowardice, and capable, too, of those who saw him will not soon forget. He is a man quite early, Senator."

"I had business with the departments and thought that that might be availed by taking in the White House on the way. I was not sure, but I did not mind the risk for men. I found them all there, waiting for anyone who might happen along."

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND is said to feel his age. It is known that he feels his oats.

WITH Gen. Pat Collins so near the Grand Old Man, the cause of Ireland cannot go backward.

HAVING gone back to the beginning of the Hawaiian annexation scheme, the President has found a good place to stop.

It is a hopeful sign when Western banks come to the assistance of the Treasury in its fight against Wall street conspirators.

EVEN the Union League Club of New York has not been stupid enough to pass a resolution favoring the annexation of Hawaii.

MR. CLEVELAND's rule that no old appointees need apply for office will cause no regret outside of the immediate circle of mourners.

THE Hawaiian treaty is practically dead. King Claus will have to be content with the revenues he has. He will not be allowed to levy tribute on the American people.

MEMBERS of the Home Market Club of Boston are receiving contributions for the relief of Mr. McKinley. This is giving unnecessary emphasis to the failure of protection.

THE Supreme Court decision won by St. Louis in the matter of taxing telegraph poles is arousing other communities, and pole taxes will presently be as common as poll taxes.

It is good policy to do right even at large expense in the beginning. The dollars that the overhead wire people could have saved by putting their wires under ground would make a big pile on a bank counter.

WHAT the Governor of South Carolina said to the Governor of North Carolina is of infinitesimal interest compared with what was said yesterday when two ex-Governors of New York met at the White House for a little conversation.

It is said that Senator Hill smiled when he went to the White House, smiled when he left it and smiled when his enemy Maxwell was appointed Fourth Assistant Postmaster-General. Now the interesting question is: What is behind the smile?

EX-SENATOR INGALLS expresses the hope that Mr. Cleveland will keep the Hawaiian treaty in his trousers pocket. But it is in his coat-tail pocket, not his trousers pocket, he should wear it. He could then sit on it with sufficient frequency.

A CHICAGO bank offers $500,000 in gold to the Secretary of the Treasury in exchange for greenbacks and it is said $2,000,000 more will be forthcoming if needed. That little Wall Street conspiracy to get hold of $50,000,000 interest bearing 4 per cent gold bonds does not fructify.

THE increased cost of living in Chicago has driven the World's Fair painters to a strike for $5 a day. When matters got so bad that a mechanic cannot live on $4.50 a day in a town where there is to be a World's Fair, the local benefits of such an exhibition may be questioned.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND's action in reference to the Hawaiian matter suggests a similar policy with reference to the Russian treaty. Although the Senate has approved this infamy the instrument has not been delivered to the Russian representative and it may be possible to reconsider it.

ISAAC P. GRAY is not the ideal diplomat, but he changes his shirt, so it is said, and puts on a clean collar now and then. These are the chief qualifications of an American Envoy Extraordinary according to the diplomatic tradition and we ought to feel very much pleased with ourselves that there are such men "in our midst."

A COLD chill will run down the spine of the office-seekers when they hear that faithful incumbents will not be disturbed, but will be allowed to serve out their terms. This applies to all the more important offices except, of course, the higher administrative and diplomatic posts. As we have said before 100 appointments at this time would be enough. Then the President and his Cabinet can attend to their real duties.

NEWSPAPER COMPARISONS.

Since the Globe-Democrat and Republic have discovered the wonderful secret of illustrating in their Sunday issues scenes enacting the previous day at points a thousand miles from St. Louis, and scenes which were not enacted at all, as they did on last Sunday in the report of the Cleveland inauguration, we have become somewhat timid about promising to excel them. But barring this marvelous feature we promise with confidence to print the best paper in St. Louis next Sunday. Directly connected by private wires with the New York WORLD, receiving the service of all the press associations and maintaining a large corps of special correspondents the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH gets all the news. Enabled by its relations with the New York WORLD, which prints the largest Sunday newspaper in the world, to take its choice in the literary market, the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH contains the contributions of the most prominent newspaper writers of the day. For the business man's benefit a specialty is made of market and financial news, every happening of interest in the financial world being fully reported. Long ago the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH won the title of being the great home paper of St. Louis and every issue protects this title. Each Sunday the Post-Dispatch prints more fashion and home news than any other newspaper in the United States. These and a variety of other excellencies go to make up the best Sunday paper printed in St. Louis and give good reason why the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH has a much larger circulation in the city of St. Louis and vicinity than either the Globe-Democrat or the Republic.

AN INTERESTING EXPERIMENT.

A remarkable and interesting experiment in local elections is now being tried in Chicago. The press of that city, with a single exception, is united in the leadership of a movement to overthrow the control of party organizations in municipal affairs by an absolute divorce of city politics from Federal and State politics and the selection of candidates for municipal offices on a strictly non-partisan basis.

The immediate occasion of the revolt is the capture of the Democratic nomination by Carter Harrison, which was done, it is claimed, through the use of disreputable methods and the support of the worst elements in municipal politics. The method adopted to carry into effect the plan of revolt is radical and novel departure from the usual means of nominating candidates. With the exception of the Times, which is owned by Harrison, every daily paper of any importance in Chicago prints an address to citizens stating that it has become "apparent that the administration of municipal affairs on lines determined by State or federal party interests is not conducive to effective or honest city government," and calling upon citizens to act independently in behalf of fitness in office and business-like methods in the transaction of city affairs.

Accompanying this address is a coupon ballot containing an endorsement of the principle of non-partisanship in city elections and having blanks for the name of the choice of the voters for Mayor and members of the Assembly. Citizens are asked to fill these blanks and send them to a certain post-office box to be counted by a carefully selected Citizens' Committee. The citizen receiving the largest number of votes will receive the independent nomination.

The method of nomination is Democratic, but hardly practicable for anything except a pressing emergency, but the movement in favor of non-partisanship in the choice of officials will be endorsed by a great body of citizens in every large municipality. Their experience of the partisan control of local politics corresponds with that of Chicago.

A COMPANY has just been formed in Texas for the manufacture of lightning rods. Possibly these investors have an idea that many citizens who have not been able to go to Washington to see the President personally will want something in their line.

THE young Hawaiian Princess is being soothed by the violin, while the "Provisional Government" is worrying her royal organizations to gain their ends and defeat the popular will.

The Chicago experiment will be watched with profound interest, and, whatever its outcome, it cannot fail to emphasize, strengthen and advance a principle which is vital to the cause of good municipal government.

HAWAIIAN ANNEXATION.

The recall of the Hawaiian treaty practically settles the question so far as annexation is concerned and we shall probably hear nothing further on the subject from the Hawaiian conspirators. They played a good game and were beaten only because the defeat of Harrison forced them to precipitate the crisis before their preparations had been matured.

They are now rather worse off than before, for they have exposed their purposes and opened people's eyes to their true character. The United States will not aid them and the planters will have to settle with the natives as best they can. Whether or not it would be good policy to allow any other nation to take the islands may have to be debated in the near future. But even should this be decided in the negative it does not follow that we must annex them.

It is not likely that England or any other power would disregard a notice from our Government that an occupation would be distasteful. A simple declaration from President Monroe was accepted by foreign powers as defining what they might and might not do on the American continent, and the Hawaiian Islands are not such a prize that any European power will want them without the consent of the United States.

THE death of four New Yorkers from pneumonia traced directly to exposure on inauguration day emphasize the folly of compelling those who participate in this ceremonial to expose themselves to the dangerous effects of a chilling atmosphere merely for spectacular effect. These four deaths, known to have been caused by exposure at that time, probably represent a minute percentage of the disastrous results upon health suffered by reason of the conditions incident to the inauguration. The President stood with bared head in the cold wind and snow while delivering his inaugural. That he or some other leader upon whom the hopes of the people are centered in the new administration are not victims—and who knows but what they have received the seeds of disease—may be accounted only a fortunate accident.

WHILE poor Uncle Samuel is struggling with debt and maladministration and scarcely knowing which way to turn he is confronted with another claim that may further cripple him. The letter-carriers, under the eight-hour law of 1888, are demanding $1,000,000 for working overtime and are confident that the Supreme Court will decide that they are entitled to it. Ordinarily $1,000,000 is a small sum in the Treasury, but at the present time, when there is even a gathering up of the small change, it is an important amount.

THE Herald asserts that most of the corporations doing business in New York have neither souls, conscience nor shame. They evade their taxes and seem to care very little what happens so long as their profits are undisturbed. More than half of the transportation companies pay no taxes whatever. There are other States than New York in which corporations have never been properly introduced to the tax-gatherers.

A COMMISSION to look into the Hawaiian matter and report to the President would be very well, but why not drop the whole disreputable business, serving notice on all the world, however, that the Islands must be let alone. Extend the Monroe doctrine to cover the case, and then Spreckels and the Kanasas will settle their quarrel without outside interference.

THE newspaper speculations as to the thermometer mark during the visit of Senator Hill to President Cleveland are amusing, but it is likely that there was no remarkable variation in the temperature. The new President did not fail to Mr. Harrison's easy wagon, and it is not to be supposed that he orders Mr. Morton to turn on the ozone whenever there is a visitor who has not been in perfect accord with the people's choice.

THE press has been somewhat inclined to favor the election of women to boards of education, but what is to be thought of the female member of the Chicago Board, who moved, the other day, that newspaper reporters should be excluded from the room? Perhaps the boys had not written up her now bonnet in good shape.

CAPT. WILHELM, or Wilts, of the Boston man-of-war, which stood by the Honolulu spectators, is said to be too hot headed. This may be true. The heat generated by a naval commander's whiskers may easily pass to his head and any vacant chambers thereof may be warmed too much.

THE investigation of the Whisky Trust shows that a doctor cannot tell whether his drug-store prescription is being filled with pure or poisonous liquor. It looks as if "patients" will have to fall back on their old saloon routes, where there are no prescription charges to pay.

THE eloquent haste with which the outside sports got out of New Orleans as soon as the Fitzsimmons-Hall meeting was over, told how matters had gone. It is unfortunate for Eastern and Northern sports that these affairs cannot be arranged nearer home.

A COMPANY has just been formed in Texas for the manufacture of lightning rods. Possibly these investors have an idea that many citizens who have not been able to go to Washington to see the President personally will want something in their line.

THE young Hawaiian Princess is being soothed by the violin, while the "Provisional Government" is worrying her royal aunt. It would be well to further encourage the young lady by looking after her supply.

The further the newspapers go with the domestic affairs of Lord and Lady de Walden, the more clear becomes the fact that they should have been provided with a divorce at once and without publicity.

EX-GOV. GRAY is the only appointee thus far who wears Uncle Sam's whiskers. It is to be hoped that they may not recall to our Mexican neighbors the unfortunate differences of '46.

WORK FOR MR. OLNEY.

From the Boston Post.

President Cleveland lays down the policy of his Administration in relation to trusts with great clearness.

They "frequently constitute conspiracies against the interests of the people," and in all other phases they are unnatural and opposed to our American spirit of fairness.

Therefore he proposes to move upon them to the extent that they can be reached and restrained by Federal power.

This is the programme of the Democratic Administration. It remains for Atty.-Gen. Olney to carry it out.

This is his official duty, and we have no doubt that he will perform it to the best of his ability, with zeal and energy.

The Massachusetts member of the Cabinet has considerable work before him.

DRAWING THE LINE OF EQUAL RIGHTS.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
